

Madhukar (Madu) Prasad
Professional Engineer & Business Consultant

Madhukar (Madu) is a Professional Engineer and a Business Consultant. He has nearly 30 years of global experience in the energy and petrochemical industries. Madu joined Shell in 1981 in Norco, LA. where he held several managerial and leadership positions and led numerous initiatives. He moved to Houston in 1998 as a faculty member at Shell's prestigious Learning Center where he co-developed and delivered several executive and leadership development programs. Madu is a lifelong community leader. He has served as a board member and leader of numerous professional & community organizations.

Madu received a Masters degree in Industrial Administration from Graduate College–Union University, Schenectady, New York. Madu has attended numerous Executive and Leadership Development Programs offered by MIT and Babson College's Executive Development Center.