

LET'S PASS ENERGY ON TO THE NEXT GENERATION. LET'S GO.

The Yoshida children have a lot of energy. But the country they're growing up in doesn't. Japan, like many other countries, needs a reliable source of energy. That's why Shell is helping to deliver natural gas to more countries than any other energy company. Not just for tonight's bowl of warming noodles, but for years to come, when the children may have children of their own. Let's build a better energy future. Let's go. www.shell.us/letsgo
